ALL RECORDS ARE BROKEN

Biggest Week's Sales In The History of The Tobacco Market.

NEARLY 1,000,000 POUNDS

Decided Slump In Prices as The Rush Reaches Its High Tide.

The loose floors up to yesterday had sold more tobacco than during any week since records have been kept. At every one of the six houses, there was all of the business that could be handled. The old record was wiped out and all from now on will be as an increase over the 1914 season. Prices failed to maintain their past strength and the week's average drops below the season's average. At the same time the receipts on contract sales continue heavy at the factories.

HANGS HIMSELF

Despondent Farmer Takes Own Life In Tobacco Barn In Todd County.

Elkton, Ky., June 4.—The body of Willie Duncan, a farmer, fifty years old, was found hanging from a tier pole in his tobacco barn near Sharon Grove. He had been despondent and in bad health for some time. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Corvie Sparrow, and a son, Jasper Duncan, both of whom lived with him.

Wild Pitch Killed Him.

Evansville, Ind., June 4.—Standing more than 15 feet from the batter's box awaiting his turn at bat, Oscar Genter, 17 years of age, of this city, was struck in the head by a wild pitch, which went over the catcher's head, and was knocked unconscious. He was not thought to be seriously hurt and when he revived told his playmates to go on with the game and that he would go home. The following day he complained of intense pain in his head and a physician was summoned, who pronounced his condition critical. The boy died Tuesday night at his home.

THEY CAME, THEY SAW AND WERE CONQUERED

City and County Put The Big Pot In The Little One And Pulled Off A Great Stunt—Revelation To All Who Were Here.

The eastern Kentucky farmers to the number of 150, guided by Geoffrey Morgan, reached Hopkinsville early Thursday morning and took breakfast at Hotel Latham.

At 7:30 they found 99 of the 100 automobiles provided by the superb management of Lucian H. Davis, of the Transportation committee. The other machine, that of Sam Bumpus, of Lafayette, arrived later filled with delegates.

A delegation of business men met the visitors at the depot and escorted them to the hotel, where T. L. Metcalfe, with his customary enterprise, distributed flowers to all present. The automobiles were filled with visitors and guides and in a long train, miles long, traversed the scheduled itinerary through a 50-mile circuit of southeast Christian, stopping at John H. Williams' stock farm to see his Duroc hogs, the finest in the State. At Pembroke a local committee met the crowd of 500 and on the public square brief talks were made by Dr. Bradford Knapp, of Washington; Geoffrey Morgan, James McKee, the Hon. J. W. Newman and Senator Boyd. The address of welcome was made by Charles E. Barker.

From Pembroke the line of vehicles traversed some of the fairest lands in the United States and arrived on time at the fair grounds at noon. There were some mishaps of a minor character but all of the machines completed the trip in good condition.

Immediately following the serving of the barbecued meats, bread and coffee to the 2,500 men, women and children who were on the grounds, the crowd filled the grandstand to hear an address of welcome by Judge W. T. Fowler, who introduced the following speakers, who made short talks: Dr. Bradford Knapp, Dr. J. G. Crabb, of the Eastern State Normal School; Congressman David Kineheloe and the Hon. J. W. Newman. The Third Regiment Military Band played during the intermissions between the speeches. At 3 o'clock a long trip was started through the southwestern portion of the county. The trip was so planned that a good road through some large farms might be used and the party have a chance to view the work that was being done and the improvements on the places. At this point it might be well to add that all of these roads had been carefully dragged the day before so that they were as smooth as they could be made for the guests of the county. While driving rapidly through one of the farms the pilot machine pulled up before the home of Col. A. M. Henry where refreshments were served by the ladies of Col. Henry's family and there were cool drinks to suit the taste of every visitor. The return trip was by W. R. Brumfield's market garden, where there was a stop for strawberries, cream and cake. The visitors inspected the greenhouses, the immense silo and water tank combined and the irrigation system for watering part of the farm.

The following paragraph is from the special report of Correspondent James Speed, who reported for the Courier-Journal:
"Again at night the visitors were the guests of the good people of Christian county at a supper at the Hotel Latham, after which they adjourned to Virginia Park to hear a number of short talks. The whole day was a series of hospitalities which the men from Jefferson county and the eastern end of the State always will remember with infinite pleasure. It is sure to mean that the Bluegrass and the "Pennyrite" will get closer together in the near future to the benefit of both. The careful organization which made possible a day of touring in more than 100 machines without an accident or an unpleasant event was perfected through the many committees of the Christian County Crop Improvement Association and the Hopkinsville Business Men's Club.

A story of the reception at Hopkinsville would not be complete without saying something about the reason why Christian county called the day "Morgan day." The name thus given was a fitting tribute to the work which Geoffrey Morgan did as county agent of Christian county, and also he was the man who had the inspiration which culminated in the trip. The Jefferson county group has been talking seriously of asking Louisville and Jefferson county to co-operate with some Bluegrass county in inviting the farmers of the West to come to the East and see what they are doing. The party feels that the good accomplished by the trip will be lasting and that the lasting quality can be doubled by asking the "Pennyrite" to come East. Big things are happening in the old State and nothing could possibly be bigger and better or finer than to establish a custom of yearly visits so that the farmers everywhere may know what the other fellow is doing and how he is doing it."

A thousand or more people assembled at Virginia Park at 8 p. m. and after a band concert by the Third Regiment Band, a round-table of short talks was presided over by Chas. M. Meaham, a member of the Reception Committee.

Ten-minute speeches were made by Dr. Fred Mutchler, Jno. C. Duffly, Dr. Knapp, Judge J. T. Hanbery, Hon. J. W. Newman, Prof. L. E. Foster, Geoffrey Morgan, Judge Walter Knight, John Feland and Claude Clark.

The speeches were all catchy and appropriate. The visitors were unstinted in their praise and profuse in their expressions of appreciation. The local boosters turned loose a varied assortment of statistics, eye-opening information, history of achievements and "hot air." Several of them dwelt upon the spirit of cooperation that binds the city and county into a solid body of boosters.

Before the adjournment Mr. Thos. Collins presented resolutions thanking the community for its hospitality and delightful entertainment, which were adopted with vigorous ayes.

The visitors left at 11 p. m. for Louisville on their special train. Trigg county sent a strong delegation, headed by K. L. Varney, County Agricultural Agent; J. Frank Ladd, T. E. Hopson, J. M. Binns, C. R. Wadlington, E. F. Goodwin and many others. They wore their own badges and were given a cordial welcome.

Killed by Foul Ball.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 4.—A glancing foul ball struck Victor E. Craig, 36, of West Pittston in the head today while he was keeping scores at a game of baseball between Sunday School teams. He was knocked unconscious but was revived and continued marking the score of the game until its close. Soon after he reached home he died from a fractured skull.

MIDDLESBORO SENSATION

Superintendent M. O. Winfrey Arrested For Seduction.

TEACHER PREFERS CHARGE

Under $3,000 Bond and Vigorously Denies His Guilt.

Middlesboro, Ky., June 4.—Prof. M. O. Winfrey, Superintendent of Schools of Middlesboro, preferred by Miss Nannie Lynn, a school teacher, was indicted Wednesday for seduction.

Winfrey denies the charge and declares that the prosecution is a blackmailing scheme and that the girl is subject to hallucinations. He also says the girl is angry over having lost her position as a teacher here and that she is being used as a tool by his enemies who want the superintendency to go to another.

Winfrey was released on $3,000 bond and his case will be called in circuit court here in about two weeks.

The girl charges that Prof. Winfrey seduced her at the beginning of the school term last September and that an operation was performed recently by Prof. Winfrey while in the school library. Alleged breach of promise to wed is alleged in her complaint. She says that Prof. Winfrey persuaded her that they had been married while she was suffering the operation.

Winfrey was a Democratic candidate for State Superintendent of Public Instruction several years ago. He is forty-nine years old and Miss Lynn about twenty years of age. Winfrey has been at Middlesboro for about nine years. He is divorced and his former wife lives in Louisville.

STITES-BREATHITT

Henry J. Stites and Miss Elizabeth Breathitt Surprise Their Friends.

Another surprise wedding occurred Thursday evening at 9:30 o'clock. The bride was Miss Elizabeth Breathitt and the groom Henry J. Stites, a High School Senior who received his diploma a few minutes before his marriage. Quietly leaving the meeting at the Tabernacle, he repaired to the residence of Judge Jas. Breathitt, father of the bride, where Dr. Louis Powell, pastor of the Methodist church, performed the ceremony that made them one. They left at once on the northbound train for Detroit, where the groom will investigate some business opportunities in the line for which he has prepared himself in school, furniture making as taught in the manual training department.

The young people are each 19 years of age and have been sweethearts since childhood. Parental objections on both sides on account of their youth were with drawn when they made it plain that they were determined to wed. The groom is the third son of Dr. F. M. Stites and a first cousin of Capt. Henry J. Stites, and is a promising young man. The bride is a pretty and accomplished girl, with a bright mind and a most charming personality. She has been doing substitute work as a teacher in the City Schools during the past year, from which she graduated a year ago.

Appointed Postmaster.

Webb Watkins has been appointed postmaster at Dexter, Mo. Mr. Watkins went from Princeton to Dexter about twenty years ago, and has been elected mayor of that town six times since going there, and now that this juicy plum has fallen to him, his many friends here are glad to know of his success in the "Slight me State" and extend congratulations.—Princeton Leader.

RUSSIANS FALL BACK

Przemysl Falls and Russians Liable To Be Driven Out of Lemberg.

ALLIES ASSAULT TUETON LINE

Large German Transport Sunk by British Submarines in Dardanelles.

London, June 4.—With the capture of Przemysl, accomplished, the Austro-German armies achieved the main object of the great thrust they commenced against the Russians in western Galicia a month ago.

They have yet to drive the Russians farther back and establish themselves in easily defended positions which will enable them to detach forces for operations against Italy and the allies in the west.

Whether or not they accomplish this, the Teutonic allies have won a great victory and with a suddenness which overshadows all past operations of the war. It was only ten weeks ago that Przemysl fell to the Russians, after a six months investment, which was interrupted for a short time in November by an Austrian advance.

With the surrender of the fortress there fell into the Russians hands, according to official reports, 120,000 Austrians and 600 guns and an immense amount of war material. Most of the forts, however, had been destroyed by the Austrians and this is considered in military circles here to account for the fact that the fortress succumbed so quickly to the Austro-German attack.

When the Russians captured Przemysl, they were pressing the Austrians across the Carpathian passes. Then on May 3, came the news of a great Austro-German drive into Galicia. Advancing slowly but surely and carrying 1,000 guns, the Teutons compelled the Russians to fall back until the Russian line ran to the right bank of the river San. Crossing the river, the Austro-German forces progressed to the north and south of the fortress, and on Tuesday, Berlin announced that three forts to the north had been stormed, while Vienna stated that the railway between Przemysl and Lemberg was commanded by Austrian guns.

There still was hope in the allied countries, however, that a Russian counter-offensive would hold the invaders off, but this proved unfounded, and today the Russians had to give up the city which, earlier in the war, had cost them so dearly to win.

There is no estimate of booty captured but it is fairly certain that the Russians, having lots of time, got away as many men and as much material as possible and destroyed the guns and ammunition that remained.

It is expected here that the victors will endeavor to push on to Lemberg and even farther.

Meanwhile the French continue their operations north of Arras, where it is declared they are slowly moving the Germans out of strongly fortified positions. The British, on their part, have become more active in the regions of Ypres and La Basse while the Italians continue to report the capture of important positions along their frontier. In this latter region, however, no news has yet been received of any big battle.

Another submarine has penetrated the Dardanelles and sunk a large German transport.

Hammack Farm Sold.

Mr. H. F. Hammack has sold his farm a few miles north of town to Mr. G. L. Campbell, of Hopkinsville. The price was not announced. This is a splendid body of land, comprising about 400 acres. Possession is given at once, except as to wheat and hay crops. Mr. Hammack has not matured his plans for the future. Mr. Campbell purchased the farm as an investment.—Pembroke Journal.

President Wilson emphasized in an informal talk with Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, Wednesday, the intense feeling of the American people over the sinking of the Lusitania and other violations of American rights on the high seas, and impressed on him that the United States would insist on an adherence by Germany to the accepted principles of international law as they affect neutrals.

Colored Man Explains Why the Game of Seven-Up Had Such Disastrous Consequences.

From a genial game of seven-up with Buck, Luke had been hailed to answer to a charge of assault and battery. Exhibit 1, being Buck's nose, seemed evidence enough to prove that mayhem had taken place after the last hand. But when the verdict was pronounced, the prisoner's aggrieved air seemed to indicate an opinion that his lawyer had not done all that could have been done in his interest. This impression was confirmed when the judge asked him if he had sought to any in his own defense, and Luke stood up.

"Yas, suh, I see got a passel to say. Mister Judge, I ast yu, is yu ever played seb'n-up?"

"That hasn't anything to do with the case, Luke," the judge interposed.

"W'y, Mister Judge, 'scusins' mo, den yu ain't understan' dis yer case. See hyer, Mister Judge, dat Buck was fo' nn' I was six, an' he begged me—yu say yu ain't played seb'n-up?"

"Well," interrupted the judge impatiently, "go on!"

"Yas, suh! Dat las' han' I's tellin' yu about—spades was trump an' I done had de jack, an' de tree-spot, an' de ten—looky hyer, Mister Judge, is yu sure yu ain't played seb'n-up?"

"Take the prisoner away," the judge commanded.

"Jes a minute, Mister Judge, please, suh. Yu see, suh, dat nigger Buck, he hogs an' I give um one, aa' dat put um five. Buck done preten' he had a po' han'—dat what he done, dat heggins' trash! He t'row down his ace, an' I puts my ten on—Judge, ef yu had jes played dis seb'n-up!"

TREES THAT WILL BE MISSED

Many Needed for Medicine Have Been Cut Down and Are Not Being Replanted.

The woodman's ax has been clearing our forests so rapidly as to work great injury to the farming interests of the country and to the wealth of the nation. The trees so necessary to the retention of moisture for the soil and a supply for the rivers have been ruthlessly cut down. The trees from which medicine are derived are rapidly disappearing with the rest. The wild cherry, besides having the ax as an enemy, has been cut down by the tiny teeth of insects. Its bark contains hydrocyanic acid, and is a popular tonic. The witch-hazel, known as a remedy by the Indians, is being destroyed. The bark of the slippery elm tree is wonderfully healing to wounds and inflammations. The butternut as a mild cathartic, the white ash as an astringent, the white pine and spruce for the respiratory organs, the tamarack, the white willow and the birch as tonics, and the other trees with health-giving properties are rapidly fading away.—The Christian Herald

Habit Will Grow Upon You. Conquer the habit of worrying. If you want to be happy in this world, worry will grow upon you, becoming a little worse day after day until it holds you in such an unrelenting grip that you are a veritable slave to its dictates. Shake off fear, fill your mind with happy thoughts, look into the future unafraid, and be thankful for the blessings of the present.

No matter how bad your condition you can always find something to be thankful for. If you are poor you may have health, a blessing many of the rich would be willing to pay for dearly. If you are ill you may at least be happy in the tender ministrations of friends and relatives around you. Look at any condition for the good there is in it, look for the best, do your best, and you will have no cause to worry.

To Be Happy in One's Work.

"The principal of the New school believes that appropriate activity constitutes the biggest form of human pleasure. He discourages the 'keeping in' of dilatory pupils, for the reason that such a policy tends to establish a mistaken attitude toward work. Ruskia says 'that God intended every man to be happy in his work'; and he would likely apply that sentiment with even greater emphasis to the child. If we accept this for our creed, we must agree that a far more fitting and effective form of 'punishment' is to deny the child the privilege of being active."—Exchange.

Birds Sing With Children.

At nursing infant schools, Southampton, England, a pair of robins have built their nest in the heavens two years in succession. The old birds went to and fro through the windows to feed the five young ones, who, when they were old enough, would perch on the children's shoulders. The male bird invariably joined in the children's school songs, concluding his singing when the piano stopped. A whole aviary of canaries has been kept for years at Sunninghill infant school, and these birds sing when the children are singing, and are silent during the other lessons.

Skunks Enemies of Caterpillars.

A new field of usefulness has been found for the much-maligned skunk in the fact that it is a vigorous enemy of the full-grown range caterpillars. Birds are of no service whatever in destroying these large caterpillars, but skunks devour quantities of them, and this is another reason why these little creatures should receive more consideration than they now do.

MODERN PROGRESS A SHAM?

Writer in the Atlantic Disinclined to Believe That the Human Race is Advancing Rapidly.

After all, are frenzied motion and progress synonymous? Any kitten chasing its own tail might, if we were really observant, disprove for us much of our modern claim of great gain. Would any age of real progress talk so much about progress, and so loudly boast its achievements? Is not much of this done to hide the inner sense of loss and lack? Perhaps it is from a far-off country childhood that I derive a persistent belief, not obscured by all the noise and dust and glamour of our time, that real growth is silent. For many and many a day I have heard this glowing talk of progress, of widening intellectual horizons, and for many a day have watched the growing wistfulness of human faces. The more thoughtful become increasingly sad, while the number of the merely stolid increases apace, as do the restless ones, with their apparent longing for distraction and change. Unfinished faces, unsatisfied faces, are familiar to us all. They lack the high record of experience greatly taken; expression that denotes profound inner life. To-day we are so comfortable, so enlightened, and, with our widening philanthropy, so estimable, that we surely ought to be happy! Yet we see few satisfied faces, such as we can remember from long ago, full of inner content, faces "on which the dove of peace sat trooding," and we pause to ask what our boasted progress has to offer in compensation for the great loss that has come through the seeming gain of these later years?—From the Atlantic.

DON'T BOTTLE THE "WHYS"

Excellent Reasons Why Child Should Even Be Encouraged to Ask Questions of All Sorts.

One father who has had some success in training his children to think and act for themselves well and wisely, declares that the secret lies in answering all their questions fully, frankly, and sympathetically, says the Youth's Companion. He tells the child everything he knows on each question that is asked, and if his knowledge is not adequate, spares no pains to make it so. The method is not always convenient for the teacher, but it results in a surprisingly large fund of information for the pupil, an ever growing desire for more, a habit of going straight to his father for enlightenment and a sense of responsibility for his own conduct.

Aside from the inconvenience, the reason why parents so commonly object to this way of dealing with the questioning habit is the fear that the child will never permit them to make any exceptions, but experience has proved that the fear is groundless. Instead of making himself disagreeable, the child usually acquiesces. He is willing for once to remain ignorant; for having learned that his father and mother are sympathetic and reasonable, he concludes that in this case it is not possible for them to explain, and so is content to obey without knowing why.

For Refreshing Sleep.

A common cause for restless sleep is a bed with sagging springs and cobble-stone mattress. For the victim of insomnia money spent for good springs and mattress is well invested. It is difficult to relax your head resting on a hill, your feet on another and a bottomless abyss between.

There are countless schemes for forcing relaxation when sleep comes reluctantly. Sometimes it may help to count imaginary sheep filing through a breach in a stone wall, or just to count slowly until you forget yourself. But we imagine a better plan is to think away back and try to recall memories of childhood and the little incidents of childhood days.

A dark room, cold air, warm night clothing, warm feet, comfortably filled stomach, a good spring and mattress, and, above all, a clear conscience, will permit relaxation and refreshing sleep.

Testimonial as Proof.

"How do you like your typewriter?" asked a salesman of one of his customers.

"It's most satisfactory!" was the reply. "I wonder how I ever got along without it!"

"That's fine! Would you be willing to give me a little testimonial to that effect?"

"Why, certainly I will," and according to Everybody's Magazine, he pounded out the following:

"After using this automatic Back-action atype writer for three months and over, I unhesitatingly pronounce it pronounced to be at least even more than the Manufacturers claim for it. During the time been in our possession, I have more than paid for it for itself in the Savings of time and labor." John L. Smith.

What Baby Said.

The good grocer calls at their house every day to get orders. He is good because he brings candy to the children.

A morning or two ago he passed a few dainty bits to the baby, who is just learning big talk.

"What do you say to the man, dear?" mother said to the recipient, her heart beat on teaching her children politeness. The baby didn't get it for a moment, then hurried:

"Has you got any more?"

TAINTED POLITICS

By Peter Radford.

This country is suffering more from tainted politics than from any other malady at the present time. There is scarcely a campaign speech made, a platform demand written or a measure enacted into law that does not carry the taint of personal gain of some politician or political faction thereof.

There is more "blue sky" in campaign promises of many politicians running for office than was ever contained in the prospectuses of the boldest promoters of chimerical business schemes. There are more secret combinations formed by politicians in the name of "My Country" than were ever formed under any and all other aliases. There are more political rebates hidden in the phrase "Be it enacted" than were ever concealed under any and all other disguises.

The inordinate thirst for political power and unrestrained passion for mastery has caused more distress in this nation than the greed for gold, and it ought to be regulated by law. No business combination ever pursued their competitors as relentlessly or visited more heartless cruelty upon their customers than a political party that seeks to make junk of an industry, or cripple a business for party success, through tariff measures, political supervision and oftentimes destructive legislation. Many political platforms are as alluring to the voter as the story of the rainbow with its pot of gold and their consummation about as far-fetched. Self-gain is the first law in politics. There are many men in office today who, if they could not shake phums off the tree of American liberty or cut a melon taken from Uncle Sam's commissary, would have less desire to serve the public.

The country is surfeited with patriots, who will bare their breast to bullets in defense of their country, but there are few men in public life who will bare their breast to voters or run the gauntlet of party disfavor in defense of agriculture or industry. No representative of the people, who will permit personal prejudice to detract from justice, party success to disfranchise reason or the rancor of a political campaign to influence judgment can render capable service.

The preservation of our prosperity depends upon wisdom, courage and honesty in government, and the American voter should seek these attributes as implicitly as the Wise Men followed the Star of Bethlehem and they will often be found to rest over the stable; the plow or the staff of the Shepherd. The surest cure for tainted politics and machine rule is fresh air and sunshine and these important elements are most abundant upon the farm, and when farmers, bankers and merchants are elected to membership in legislative bodies, much of the trouble in government will disappear.

WATERED SECURITIES

By Peter Radford.

Much has been said and more written about the evils of watered stock in big business concerns and the farmers of this nation believe that every dollar written into the life of any business organization, should be able to say "I know that my Redeemer liveth," but farming is the biggest business on earth, and there is more water in its financial transaction than that of any other industry. There is as much water in a farmer's note drawing eight or ten per cent interest when other lines of industry secure money for four or five per cent per annum, as there is in a business paying a reasonable compensation upon the face value of securities representing an investment of only fifty cents on the dollar. The only difference is, the water is in the interest rate in one instance and in the securities in the other.

The promoter oftentimes takes chances and his success is contingent upon the development of the property involved but the user, as a rule, takes no chances and his success cripples the property involved. There may be industries that cry louder but none that suffer more severely from financial immorality in both law and custom than that of agriculture.

The farmers of America today are paying $200,000,000 per annum in usury on real estate and chattel loans, and this interest capitalized at five per cent, represents $4,000,000,000 of fictitious values which the farmer is paying interest on. This sum of money is almost equal to the annual value of crops produced in the United States.

The earning power of the farmer's note based upon his interest rate very nearly divides like the earth's surface—three-fourths water and one-fourth land. The largest body of water that floats upon the financial hemisphere now rests upon the farms and its waves are dashing and its billows are rolling against seven million homes threatening ruin and disaster to the prosperity of the nation.

Will our public servants who understand how to drain the liquid off industrial properties turn the faucet and let the water off the farms?

It is an admitted economic fact that there can be no permanent prosperity without a permanent agriculture. Agriculture is recognized as the greatest of all industries and a prosperous, progressive and enlightened agricultural population is the surest safeguard of civilization.

HOW TO CHECK TRUNK

New Regulations Make Declaration of Value Necessary and Take More Time.

The valuation of trunks carried as baggage on passenger trains must hereafter be declared under a new joint tariff that became effective June 2 on most railroads. For trunks whose valuation is more than $100 a rate of ten cents per $100 will be charged in excess of the first $100.

The new tariff is brought about as a consequence of the Commins law, which makes railroads liable for losses in full. Heretofore $100 has been the limit of liability. Baggage of the valuation of more than $2,500 will not be carried in baggage cars.

WORLD'S RECORD

IN DIVING WORK

San Francisco, June 3.—Thirteen descents were made in search for the submerged submarine F-4 at Honolulu, T. H., and everyone broke a former world's record, according to Chief Gunner George D. Stillson, who is here after completing his work as chief of the diving operations.

Five of the descents were made to a depth of 306 feet, he said, and 8 to 275 feet. The former world's record was 274 feet.

Stillson said that a telephone device was used successfully in communicating with the men under water for the first time in the history of diving.

First Christian Church.

"The Open Church." J. Newton Jessup, Pastor Bible School 9:30 a. m., etc. Sunday is Children's Day and a fine program has been prepared. The exercises will be held at the morning hour. In the absence of the pastor, Pres. W. S. Peterson, of Bethel College, will occupy the pulpit in the evening. Rev. J. Newton Jessup, pastor of the Christian Church, left today for Lexington, where he will preach the baccalaureate sermon for Transylvania University on Sunday. Later he will go to Butler College, Indianapolis, to attend the anniversary of his class. His daughter, Miss Mildred, who is in Butler will accompany him home.

In 100th Year.

Peter Eanes, of Daviess county, celebrated his 99th birthday June 1. His health is good.

Citrus fruit growers of Florida will hold a convention at Orlando June 11.

OPENING BALL

Brilliant Society Event at Popular Cerulean.

The Opening Ball at Cerulean Thursday night was very brilliant. The crowd was perhaps the largest that ever attended on a similar occasion and represented many cities. Hopkinsville, St. Louis, Louisville, Evansville, Paducah, Cadiz, Pembroke, Crofton and many other places had large representation. The orchestra engaged for the season made fine music. The dining room was as usual headquarters for fried chicken and other good things to eat. Some guests have already taken rooms and the season is well and auspiciously opened.

Motions For Bail.

Madisonville, Ky., June 3.—Otto Hamilton, another of the men under indictment as an accessory before the fact in the Woodruff and Hoard murder mystery, was brought here Tuesday night by the sheriff of McCracken county and lodged in jail. The motion for bail for James Robinson, the first to be arrested, will be heard before Judge Gordon Thursday morning. Many witnesses have been summoned and a big crowd is expected. Efforts will be made for bail for Todd and Hamilton also. It is said C. S. Bookwalter and Floyd Craynor, the other two men under indictment have not been arrested. It is thought one of these will surrender Thursday.

Badly Butted.

Carlisle, Ky., June 4.—Miss Decima Banta, sixteen-year-old daughter of Kimmie Banta, a Nicholas county farmer, was found with serious injuries to her spine and in an unconscious condition. She has been unable to tell how she was injured, but it is believed she had been attacked by some of a flock of sheep. Her condition is reported to be critical.

Joint Meeting.

A joint meeting of representatives of the Todd County and the Christian County Medical societies, with President Gower, of Todd County society presiding, was held in Trenton Wednesday with the local physicians as hosts. Dr. W. D. Haggard, of Nashville, Tenn., read a paper on the "Cancer Problem."

CAP and BELLS

FLASH OF THE LACKAYE WIT

Admitted Steele Mackaye Has Been Acknowledged Master of Dramatic Art for Twenty Years.

Thirty years ago, when Wilton Lackaye first went upon the stage, he was rehearsing a part in "Paul Kaurvar," under the direction of the author, Steele Mackaye, who, while admittedly a capable stage manager, was regarded as old-fashioned by the moderns. During rehearsal Lackaye and Mackaye had a slight difference as to how a certain part should be acted.

"Do you argue with me?" Mackaye demanded with magisterial severity. "I have been an acknowledged master of the dramatic art for twenty years."

"Yes," Lackaye retorted, "but not this twenty."

Officer, Do Your Duty. "If man evolved from the monkey," remarked Dinglebatz, "he at least has the satisfaction of knowing that his ancestors were remarkably intelligent."

"What's the answer?" queried Snekelfritz. "They were educated in the higher branches," replied Dinglebatz.

A Pest.

"As a rule I have a kindly feeling for my fellow-man."

"Yes?" "But something should be done to the chap who starts to tell an ancient wheeze just when you sit down to hear your favorite record on the phonograph."

Sincerity Test.

"What's your idea of an honest man?"

"An honest man," replied Mr. Cumrox, "is one who likes the same music in private that he says he likes when his wife is giving a musicale."

Cruel Comment.

"You know, there is an air I heard lately humming through my brain this morning."

"That's no air; what you hear in your brains are their wheels humming."

Hiram Haycock—That's for the dog that used to trot along under the buckboard.—Puck.

Sad, but True.

"Do all people who marry in haste repent at leisure?" asked the seeker after knowledge.

"Not all," answered the cynic. "Some of them merely forget that they are married."

A BARGAIN.

"I bought this for a mere song."
"Indeed?"
"At any rate, I gave a note for it."

Wealthy.

"He is very wealthy?" we asked as the man with the diamonds zipped by in his motor car.

"Goodness, yes," friend answered. "He even has his own private breakfast food factory!"—Indianapolis Star.

A Dazzling Series.

"Life with Daubson is just one woman after another."

"He must be a fearful rake."

"Nothing of the sort. He draws cover designs for popular magazines."

Significant.

"Is Plodworth a poor man?"
"I guess so. Whenever he speaks of money he has a far away look in his eyes."

The Business of the Krupps.

Five separate groups of works are comprised in the Krupp organization. The first of these is the Essen steel works—with proving grounds at Meppen, Tanger-Hutte and Essen—consisting of some sixty departments and covering an area of about 500 acres. Here are housed 7,100 machine tools, 17 roll trains, 187 hammers, 81 hydraulic presses, 397 steam boilers, 569 steam engines, over 2,300 electric motors, and 800 cranes. The total coal consumed in this establishment last year alone was 3,000,000 tons. In this group is included also the Milhofener-Hutte, with its four blast furnaces; the Hermann-Hutte, with three blast furnaces, and the Sayner-Hutte, with coal and iron mines.

The second group consists of the Friedrich-Alfred Iron Works at Rhelnhausen, with 6 blast furnaces, 15 blowing engines, and Siemens-Martin steel works.

The third group is the Annen steel works, producing principally steel castings up to twenty-five tons.

The fourth group is the Gruson Machine Works at Magdenburg-Buckau, made up of more than fifty different shops. These cover an area of 75 acres, and house 1850 machine tools and nearly 550 cranes.

The fifth group is the naval section of the Krupp works, the Germania shipyards at Kiel. These works cover 60 acres, containing 8 building slips (four of them roofed), the two largest of which can accommodate vessels up to 725 feet long and 130 feet wide. Two acres are devoted to forge shops. The main bay of fitting shop is 475x78 feet and the boiler shop is 400x212 feet.—From "The Krupp Steel Works," in the American Review of Reviews for June.

With Provisos.

"Well, we'll tell you, George, frankly. You can marry on $500 a year, yes. Provided you have saved your last year's salary, and likewise provided you can get your next year's salary in advance."

June Weddings

Finlayson-Tibbs.

King-Hendrick.

Bowling Green, Ky., June 4.—Miss Delia Hendrick, a school teacher, and John T. King, a lawyer, of Cadiz, Ky., candidate for the Democratic nomination for County Attorney of Trigg county; were married on Thursday evening by Dr. Leonard W. Doolan, pastor of the First Baptist church. The bride is a daughter of City Assessor James W. Hendricks.

Boyd-Dabney.

The wedding of Mr. Harper W. Boyd, formerly of Cadiz, but now of Tampa, Fla., and Miss Julia Dabney, of Chicago, announcement of which has been made, will take place at the home of the bride's parents on Saturday, June 27th.

May Not So Wet.

Contrary to the opinion of many the rainfall for the month of May just passed was but .98 of an inch in excess of the normal, although rain fell in some quantity on twenty-four days during the month.

The precipitation totaled 4.62 inches, the greatest since 1907, and the first time since 1910 when the precipitation was normal or above. Thunderstorms occurred on thirteen days, the greatest number on record at this station for May. Of the twenty-four days on which rain fell, eight occasions registered but a trace, while sixteen days had .01 inch or more, but only seven days received drerchings of more than one-quarter inch of rain. The deficiency in rain for the present year amounts to 6.82 inches.—Louisville

Backed Into a Ditch.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Green were badly injured when their buggy was backed into a ditch in South Clarksville Wednesday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Green were driving in South Clarksville, when they met a wagon in a narrow stretch of the road. Their baby was unhurt.

MRS. LYON'S ACHES AND PAINS

Have All Gone Since Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Terre Hill, Pa.—"Kindly permit me to give you my testimonial in favor of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When I first began taking it I was suffering from female troubles for some time and had almost all kinds of aches—pains in lower part of back and in sides, and pressing down pains. I could not sleep and had no appetite. Since I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the aches and pains are all gone and I feel like a new woman. I cannot praise your medicine too highly."—Mrs. Augustus Lyon, Terre Hill, Pa.

It is true that nature and a woman's work has produced the greatest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known. From the roots and herbs of the field, Lydia E. Pinkham, forty years ago, gave to womankind a remedy for their peculiar ills which has proved more efficacious than any other combination of drugs ever compounded, and today Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is recognized from coast to coast as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health—many of them openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; and in some cases that it has saved them from surgical operations.

That an accident or sickness which destroys the use of arm or feet, or causes the loss of sight, is not only a physical calamity, but the most severe of all losses.

It Means the Wasting Away of An Estate Already Created:

the loss of any investment which is dependent upon the present or future earnings—in fact, the loss of the producing power, a disaster worse than death could bring.

IN THE TRENCHES

By DOROTHY BLACKMORE.

(Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"The enemy is in your trenches again, sis," cried Teddy Herbert to his sister, who had not yet come down to breakfast.

"Dear, dear!" he heard her exclaim, and then he heard hurried footsteps and saw Mattie run downstairs, pick up a coat that was lying on a chair in the hall, and slam the front door after her.

Four sixty-foot trenches lay open at the side of the Herbert home, and Mattie was running back and forth chasing away the neighbors' chickens. The fresh fertilizer which had been placed so carefully in each of the trenches was scattered everywhere, and dismay was written all over the girl's face when she turned to come into the house.

"It's a shame!" she said, as she took her place at the table, breathing hard, but looking as fresh as a rose after her exercise in the invigorating March air. "And this one year when I had counted so much on my sweet peas and have followed directions so carefully. What shall I do, mother?" "Shoot the chickens," suggested Teddy.

"This isn't the war, Teddy," his sister said, squelching. "These are sweet pea trenches."

"I pass," said Teddy, getting up from the table. "It's not my funeral, Mat. So long!" And with that he was gone.

Mattie and her mother were finishing breakfast in silence when they heard the knocker on the front door. "I'll go," said Mattie, as her mother started to rise.

"I—I'm George Davis—next door, you know. I just saw you chasing my chickens out of your garden. I—"

"Come in, please," said Mattie, opening wide the door to the young man who was introducing himself.

"You see, I've come to stay with my brother, next door, for a while, since my firm saw fit to cut down expenses by letting me out of a job. He's never at home and my sister is busy with the baby, so the chickens have been in your trenches owing to my folly. I apologize and will see that it does not happen again."

"Oh, don't worry!" Mattie hastened to say. "Of course, I—well, I have worked so hard this spring, and it has been rather disconcerting—"

"Disconcerting!" interrupted Davis. "That is polite. If I had been in your place I think I would have blessed the whole household of neighbors. Did you?" he laughed.

Mattie joined him. "Perhaps you would call it a blessing. I hadn't thought of it in that light. But now you won't worry, will you? I'll get out this morning and try to plant the seeds, and then—"

"Then if my chickens dig them up I needn't show my face again in this neighborhood?"

Mattie nodded, laughing. "That's it," she said.

With a few more words of apology George Davis left, and Mattie Herbert knew that she liked him and was glad that he was to be a neighbor.

That morning, when she was busy out of doors, trying to repair the damage done to her trenches, George Davis looked over the hedge which separated the gardens. "It is I who should be doing that," he ventured.

"You may help," Mattie said, quickly.

A few hours' work with her assured him that Mattie Herbert was not conventional, that she was the most original and charming girl he had met.

Spring came and went, and June brought the looked-for blossoms in the Herberts' garden. The four sixty-foot trenches were a riot of bloom, and some stems held four blossoms of gigantic proportions.

Mattie and her mother and even Teddy picked sweet peas night and morning, and Mattie herself attended to the shipping. It was then that Mattie called upon her neighbor for help.

"I can't offer you much in return for your help, which I need badly," the girl said, frankly, "but I think if you are still out of a position you and I could do a small business together with your chickens and our ground."

"I don't need any pay for helping you," Davis said earnestly. "I should love to do it."

Later they worked out a scheme of successive raising of table commodities for which they knew of ready and accessible markets. And while they worked on this scheme they fell in love with each other.

One day he told her of his love and of what he had hoped her answer might be.

"My answer is yes, of course," Mattie said. "But we must continue to be partners in business as well as in our home. I—well, I'm glad the war brought to you and to me the necessity for earning our living together. For it was the exigencies of the war situation that brought us together, wasn't it?" she asked.

"Yes, it was the enemy in your trenches, dear," he said, laughing.

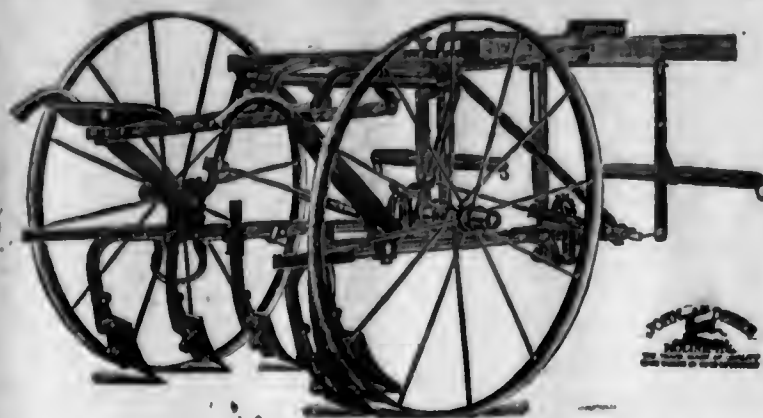

Placing the Responsibility. "I'd get along better with my dancing, and Uncle Flopsie. If I could get hold of the right tune."

"What's the matter?"

"There isn't a piece in the whole music box that doesn't get out of time to the way I dance."

Mexico's Destruction.

Terrifying as some aspects of the European struggle have been, there is nothing in the whole world so forlorn as the plight of Mexico, and no topic so enshrouded in gloom. There is more hope in the worst corner of Europe than in the brightest spot of Mexico. In the period of Huerta's dominance our authorities at Washington pinned their faith upon Carranza. He seemed to represent the people, and to have a fair prospect of leading the way to peace and regeneration. Later on the Administration was obliged to give up Carranza as wholly disappointing, and to make Villa, with his well-regarded assistant, General Angeles, the object of their prayers and hopes. General Obregon has of late seemed to hold the center of the lurid stage, and he is in the field while his chief, Carranza, lingers at Vera Cruz. A high authority at Washington remarked in private confidence the other day that a vigorous American leader could take a large trainload or two of provisions and a million dollars in cash, and march straight to the City of Mexico with 200,000 loyal Mexican troops, who would be glad to serve him for daily bread and a small regular wage. Mexico to-day is an anarchy, not an organized political sovereignty. A military dictatorship doubtless will establish itself upon the ruins. It is a thousand pities that responsible Mexican citizens who have property and lawful interests in that country are so lacking in wisdom and common sense that they do not urge the United States Government to take up the task of reorganizing Mexico in an altruistic and neighborly spirit. —From "The Progress of the World," in the American Review of Reviews for June.

Caught Here.

Last Friday evening a burglar entered the home of Prof. Kelsey Cummins, at Cedar Bluff. Entrance was gained to the house by prizing open a window, and about $60 worth of Mr. Cummins' clothing and a gold watch were stolen. A negro by the name of Arthur Bell, giving Clarksville, Tenn., as his home, who was seen around Cedar Bluff Friday morning, was arrested at Hopkinsville Saturday, and most all the things stolen were recovered. Chief of Police, A. B. Hopper, went to Hopkinsville Saturday evening and brought the negro here Sunday morning and lodged him in jail to await trial in Circuit Court which convenes next week. —Leader.

GOOD ROADS

CONCRETE CULVERT IS BEST
Flat-Top Style Being Built in Kansas
Is Shown in Illustration—Good Roads Save Money.

Had we begun not more than fifteen years ago to build concrete culverts and bridges in this township, and continued at the rate we have been building them the last three years, we would now have no place to put another one. Besides our expenses would not have been much more than they have been in building the wooden ones, writes J. T. King, trustee of Lincoln township, Lebo, Kan., in Farmers' Mail and Breeze. We began with the full-arch style of concrete culverts. That was before we knew the good of the flat-top kind. We now use the full arch only where there are high banks on both sides, so we can grade up to the top of the arch and make the road level. For all other places we prefer the flat top. We build them from 2 by 16 feet, to 20 by 16 feet.

All concrete work must be well reinforced with iron wire. We use any kind of bar iron in the tops, laid hit and miss lengthwise with the road. Heavy woven hog wire is laid crosswise of the top and in the wings, intermingled, so as to unite the whole culvert into one piece. The tops have a crowning of eight inches and are made 8 to 16 inches thick in the center, the thickness varying with the width. The forms are placed so the tops and abutments are all in one piece. The bars or rods must be shaped so as to be partly embedded in the abutment walls.

We have just finished four culverts 12 by 16 feet, made after the plan of the illustration, at a cost of $150. This may seem to be quite a price, yet if they last as we expect them to, they will be cheap in the long run. We use a lot of iron, any length, in these tops. We get them cheap from junk dealers.

This good roads move is a money saver to the people. More has been done to improve our highways in the last five years than in any 15 years before.

TEACH GOOD ROAD BUILDING

One Sentence in Discussion of Concrete Construction Worthy of Being Printed in Big Type.

(By E. B. HOUSE, Colorado Agricultural College.)

In the engineering record of recent issue is an interesting article concerning a meeting for the purpose of instruction to road builders, by experts in that line of work.

Speaking of the meeting the Record comments as follows: "One sentence in the discussion of concrete road building would have been worth putting in black type. It is this: 'You cannot design a concrete pavement four miles long and assume that you can use the same cross-section throughout; you will have to design it the same as foundations for a building, depending on the bearing power of the soil, etc.'"

This is undoubtedly true, and yet it states a fact that is almost universally disregarded.

ROAD DRAG IS INEXPENSIVE

Constant Attention is Price of Good Roads—Objection That Too Much Money Is Spent on Grader.

(By C. SCHULTZ.)

I have watched the use of the road drag and the grader past my house this summer. The drag leaves the road in better shape—the grader piling roughness in the middle while the drag smooths it off nicely. But the greatest objection is that the drag is not used often enough. Constant attention is the price of good roads, and the use of the drag is so inexpensive that good roads by its use are obtainable, or would be if the money were not spent in using the grader with four teams and five men. That's the way the money goes.

Permanency of Bridges.
Concrete bridges for roads are the kind that spell permanency. Between threshing outfits and heavy motor cars the county with shaky bridges is in for trouble.

Keep Water Away.
Run furrows along hills that may conduct water to a road and keep the water away from road and ditch.

Operating a Drag.

A Splendid Tonic.

Cora, Ky.—Mrs. Iva Moore, of this place, says: "I was so weak, I could hardly walk. I tried Cardui and was greatly relieved. It is a great tonic. I have recommended Cardui to many friends, who tried it with good results." Testimony like this comes unsolicited, from thousands of earnest women, who have been benefited by the timely use of that successful tonic medicine, Cardui. Purely vegetable, mild, but reliable. Cardui well merits its high places in the esteem of those who have tried it. It relieves women's pains, and strengthens weak women. It is certainly worth a trial. Your druggist sells Cardui.—Advertisement.

Ever Hit Thumb With a Hammer?

Here is a little device which you can make at home by which the tinest tack can be held without possibility of injury to the fingers. Take a strip of tin about three-quarters of an inch wide and about six or seven inches long. Shape it with a small slot in one end. Then double it, bending at the middle. When ready to insert the nail, put it into the slot, which will hold it by its head. This gives a kind of handle by means of which you can hold the nail perfectly upright while you hit it with the hammer. Of course the holder must be pulled away before the nail or tack has gone all the way into the wood. If you have not the tin at hand strong cardboard will serve the purpose. Try this little device just once and I am sure you will feel amply repaid for your trouble in making it, as it will prevent many a bruised finger.—Woman's Home Companion.

World's Oldest University.

Founded in the year 972 A. D., the Mohammedan university of El-Azhar ("the Luminous") is the oldest existing university in the world. It is the Oxford of the Moslem world, and is at present attended by upward of 10,000 students of all ages, and from every eastern country, from the Caucasus to Somaliland. Board and lodging is free. The teaching consists chiefly of Mohammedan dogma, which is laboriously committed to memory from sacred books.

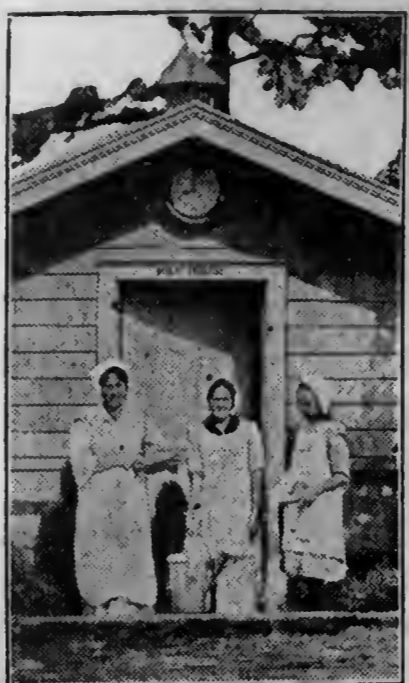

IMPORTANCE OF MILK HOUSE

Difficult to Properly Care for Dairy Products in Summer Without Suitable Building.

During the hot weather it is almost impossible to care for dairy products on the farm without a suitable milk house. O. E. Reed of the Kansas Agricultural college offers the following: Milk must be produced under sanitary conditions, and to do this the milk house should be either separate from the dairy barn or arranged in such a way that odors from the barn do not get to it.

A 10 by 12-foot milk house is a good size for the average farm. It should be built with a cement floor and have a drain at the center to carry away the waste. The equipment should consist of a refrigerating tank, 30 by 36 inches, inside measure. This will accommodate four milk cans. There should also be a cooler, aerator, wash and separator.

A windmill on the side nearest the refrigerating tank will pump cold water from the well into one corner of the tank. The water circulates around the cans and flows out at one side through an overflow pipe. This overflow pipe leads into a watering trough and the water is used for watering the stock instead of being wasted.

ARE YOUR COWS EFFICIENT?

Milk Scales and Babcock Tester Essential in Conducting Successful Dairy—Discard Boarders.

Putting the efficiency test to cows with the milk scales and the Babcock tester is one of the essentials of conducting a successful dairy. When feed is high in price a farmer cannot afford to have boarders in his dairy barn who eat up more in feed than their milk yield is worth. The Babcock test will show these delinquent cows in their true light, and the milk scales will put the clincher on the argument. Testing cows will give some farmers a big surprise. Sometime the cow that looks like the poorest creature in the lot is the best butterfat producer.

Cow testing associations among dairymen afford the most economical use of the Babcock tester and the scales.

DAIRY NOTES

Regularity in feeding pays.

The more the study, the greater the success in dairying.

The difference is in the cow, rather than the feed or milker or the churn.

The farm separator is too good a stepmother for the calf to get along without.

The more a man appreciates the maternity of the dairy cow the better dairymen he is.

Immediately after milking, strain the milk from the pail through three thicknesses of cheese cloth.

Some cows not only do not make a profit but are kept at a loss, as they do not give enough milk to pay for their feed.

It is not hard for a dairy farmer to sleep well on cold winter nights when he has a silo full of corn and a barn full of hay.

Grain and feed marketed through the hutter mold and the cream can will generally bring top prices, no matter how the market may be for your grain and feed.

HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT

DEPENDENCE ON DIRT ROADS

They Are of Much Importance to Farmer and Are Good Nine Months in Year if Properly Cared For.

For many years nine-tenths of the roads in the country must be dirt roads. It is on these roads that farmers for the most part go to church and to school. They are much more important than the greater highways of travel in the country. We have a great demand for "good roads," meaning hard-surfaced roads of some sort, whether brick, macadam, gravel or cement; but we have come to a point now when it should be known to all men that since the advent of the automobile no limestone road is worth putting down. In the corn belt, about the only road material we have, outside of our dirt roads, is limestone. The brick road is better in the end than macadam, because it will endure the strain of automobile travel. The cement road is yet in the experimental stage. The gravel road is only possible where gravel is near. Hence the great majority of our farm folks must travel to and from the church and school and nearby town over dirt roads.

If the dirt road is first properly drained to take off the water that comes in from below or from the side, if it is properly graded up and there are good, permanent culverts and bridges, and it is then properly dragged, the dirt road is good properly for nine months in the year, and longer. If the above conditions are complied with, it is better during most of that time than any macadam or brick road that ever was built.

"Some of our readers will say: 'Oh, you are singing that old song again. You are talking about the drag.' Verily, we are. In our recent trips East, we have been glad to see that farmers in Ohio and Pennsylvania are dragging, says Wallace's Farmer. Although the drag is not as useful there as here, on account of the stones in the road, they are nevertheless using the drag.

There is no use dragging the road until it has been drained and rounded up by the scraper; but after that is done, the drag is the best tool that can be used. Our readers who have automobiles often find during the summer a piece of dragged road that is a delight; and then they run onto a piece where the supervisors evidently had no gumption, a piece of road that causes vexation of spirit if not internal profanity every time the farmer rides over it. It is enough to make even a righteous man mad.

One thing we want to remind you of—that the longer a road has been dragged, the better it becomes. We have never claimed that you could make a perfect-dragged road inside of about six years of proper dragging; but dragging improves it from the start, and in time the clay of the road becomes almost like brick, but at the same time smooth and elastic; and if the road be oval and well drained, it is an ideal road.

Our farmers who do not want to take their wives and families over humpy, humpy roads, and make them disgusted every time they go to church or to town, should see to it that the roads freeze up as smooth as possible this winter. They should get out after every rain now, and drag. "Drag, brother, drag!" If another rain comes, get on the road again and drag some more. Every farmer on these dirt roads should see that his road is dragged smooth before it freezes up. Then there will be no trouble except snow. Dragging won't help that; but nothing else will, not even hard surfacing.

Poor Highways.

Poor highways lessen the profit of labor, increase the cost of living, burden the enterprise of the people, dull the morality of our citizenship and hold down the educational advancement of the country.

WATCH FOR DROOPY CHICKS

White Diarrhea Is Most Destructive During First Ten Days After Hatching—Remove Ailing Bird.

Watch the brooder closely for the droopy chicks, especially during the first ten days after hatching, for it is during this period that white diarrhea is most destructive. As a rule the chicks are hatched with it, and it usually develops in from four to six days.

Take each droopy chick from the brooder as soon as discovered, and be careful to send drinking vessels and change the scratching litter.

After the first week the chicks are not as susceptible to this disease, and will not immediately take it from one having it.

By following this plan the majority of the hatch may be saved.

Great Laying Strains.

Not every hen hatched from a great laying strain will be a great layer. In the national egg-laying contest, one hen has been on the job two years and never laid an egg.

Fatten Before Marketing.

Spring chickens, like other poultry for sale, should be fattened before being put on market, and the milk-fed chick makes speedy growth.

INVESTMENT IN POOR COWS

Milk Producer Must Stop Guessing and Be Certain of Results—Much Money Is Wasted.

Chief obstacle in successful dairying are lack of well balanced, intensive methods and not applying business principles. The milk producer must stop guessing and know for sure what the results will be and adopt the ways of most profit.

Large sums of money are invested in many acres of land, extensive and expensive buildings, costly horses, tools and machinery, high-priced feed and labor, and all of this outlay turned to raising crops that do not yield anything like the amount of digestible nutrients per acre that should and could be obtained, and to feeding and poorly earling for a herd of poor cows utterly unable to return a profit.

Excellent Milk Producers on Pasture.

The same expenditure of money and labor bestowed in an intelligent manner upon the same farm and an efficient dairy herd would return a hand some profit.

BEST SIZE OF SILO TO BUILD

Not Advisable to Construct Rectangular With Diameter Over Twenty Feet—Right Height.

In building a silo one should plan well the width of the silo. If the silo is too wide for the number of stock to be fed from it daily, there will not be a sufficient amount of silage taken from the silo per day, especially in warm weather, to keep the silage from spoiling.

A depth of 2 to 2½ inches of silage should be taken from the silo per day during the winter months, and a depth of three inches per day during the warm summer months.

If the stock on a farm is equivalent to from ten to fifteen cows, the silo should have a diameter of about ten feet; if equivalent to fifteen to twenty-five cows, a diameter of about twelve feet; if equivalent to twenty-five to thirty-five cows, a diameter of about fifteen feet; if equivalent to thirty-five to forty-five cows, a diameter of sixteen feet; if equivalent to forty-five to sixty-five cows, a diameter of eighteen feet; if equivalent to sixty-five to seventy-five cows, a diameter of eighteen feet. For a herd of seventy-five cows or over the diameter can be from eighteen to twenty feet.

It is not advisable to build a silo with the diameter over twenty feet. It is a general rule not to make the height of the silo less than twice or more than three times the diameter.

PLAN FOR DEHORNING CATTLE

Illustration Shows How the Head of Animal Is Held While Operation Is Being Performed.

In reply to an inquiry as to the best method for dehorning a cow a subscriber of Hoard's Dairyman submits the following plan:

"I inclose you a tie for holding cow's head at stanchion while dehorning. I think it the best tie I know. I send you a small model to show how to use it. When cow's head is fast in stanchion, the rope is dropped over cow's neck, the loop is caught on the under side and the rope doubled is put through loop and placed around the nose up far enough to not shut off her breathing, and then pull the rope back to a post at side of stanchion, and one turn around post. A man can hold the end, and by placing his weight on rope hold the cow's head quite solid while her horns are removed. The rope is quickly removed by taking off nose and pulling same."

ALLENWORTH'S WINNING RACE

Christian County's Candidate
For Commonwealth's
Attorney.

LOOKS LIKE AN EASY WINNER

(Pembroke Journal.)

Mr. James B. Allensworth, Christian county's candidate for the Democratic nomination for Commonwealth's Attorney, looks like an easy winner, according to reports received from the various counties comprising the district.

Everybody, both for and against Mr. Allensworth, speak in the highest praise of the manly speeches he has made in joint debate with his opponent, and say that no candidate has ever pitched his campaign upon such a high plane.

Five joint debates have been held, one in each county, except two in Lyon, at Eddyville and Kuttawa. Persons who have heard these speeches say that Mr. Allensworth's argument against holding office for the third term was convincing and unanswerable, and this, together with many other strong arguments, seems to have given him strong lead in the race, and reports agree that he will carry no less than three of the five counties. Christian and Calloway, the two largest counties, will give him decisive majorities, and the indications are that he will have a decisive majority in the district.

The Democrats of Christian county have just cause to feel proud of their candidate in this contest, and will prove their earnestness when they gave him such deserved endorsement by petition last fall by giving him the largest vote ever cast for a Democratic candidate in his home county.

Here's to you, friend Jim, with the firm conviction that you will make one of the best officials the Third Judicial district has ever had.—Advertisement.

Pleasing Husband.

In the Woman's Home Companion a woman living in Wyoming wrote in part as follows her comment on how a woman can continue to please her husband:

"The wise woman is she who keeps neat and trim in dress, dainty in person and alert and poised in mind, that in so doing she may favorably stand comparison with the business women with whom her husband comes in contact.

"Most men, even those well past middle age, place high value upon externals, and the woman who assumes that she can hold a man's love indefinitely, regardless of her personal appearance, is, to my mind, making a grave mistake.

"More than one wife, serene in the knowledge of her husband's loyalty, fails to realize that that same loyalty is due more to the man's sense of duty and conscientious self-control than to the fact that his wife possesses the qualities which actually hold him true to her in spirit as well as in deed."

Leave it to the Small Boy.

Leave it to the small boy to put it over—even on the thoroughly seasoned and experienced circus "kinker." The Hippodrome circus was parading along upper Broadway, New York, when one of the clowns was seized with a thirist. Clampering down from his lofty perch he darted into a corner saloon for a little "red eye." When he emerged the cavalcade had vanished. Some side street had swallowed it up, leaving the clown marooned. "Which way did the hally-hoo go, son?" he demanded of a small boy. "I'll show you," responded the lad. For three blocks the clown ran panting after the youngster with an ever-increasing army of kids at his heels. "Where is it?" demanded the exhausted clown. "Ha, ha!" laughed the youth. "I gave you a run for your money, didn't I?" The clown might have spanked the youth, but he couldn't catch him. He compromised by hiring an express wagon to convey him back to the Hippodrome to escape the mob of small boys.

"Ofn."

The professor who, in his address on the correct pronunciation of English, said he preferred "ofn" to "often" is on the winning side. No "pronouncing dictionary" with a reputation to lose ever sounds the t in the middle of such words as Christmas, mistletoe, hostler, often, or chestnut. Good actors, whose duty it is to speak "trippingly on the tongue," can cite authority to support their pronunciation of "han'kerchief and We'n'day. And no one who knows his way about in the elocutionary field pays any regard to the spelling of such words as "extraordinary."—London Chronicle.

DR. ERKILETIAN FILES ANSWER

To Petition of His Wife in Her
Suit For Divorce.

Dr. D. H. Erkiletian has filed his answer in the suit against him for divorce brought by his wife, Mrs. Bernice Erkiletian. He denies all of the material allegations of the plaintiff and desires it especially understood that he has nothing unkind or uncharitable to say against the plaintiff, or her people who may have taken the most prominent part of the proceedings against him. He submits that plaintiff may have the custody of their son, so long as he is kept in an atmosphere which will be conducive to his uplift, but states that $40 a month as stated in the petition of plaintiff is more alimony than should be allowed her, considering the age of the child and the hard times.

NOTICE OF DISSOLUTION

Following the death of J. R. Hawkins, the firm of J. R. Hawkins & Co. has entered into dissolution, the junior member of the firm, Ned Turner, taking over the entire business, which will be run at the same old stand and from which it has done business for the past thirty-eight years, and under the same firm name of J. R. Hawkins & Co.

Persons indebted to the old firm are requested to call and make settlement of the same, as the business must be closed at the earliest possible moment.

I cannot let this opportunity pass without expressing in behalf of the firm of J. R. Hawkins & Co., the old and the new, our profoundest gratitude for the consideration and support accorded us by the public of Hopkinsville, and I am taking the liberty of bespeaking for ourselves the same liberal consideration in the future, assuring our customers that we shall adhere to the same fair dealing and prompt service that has characterized our conduct of the business for thirty-eight years.

Very respectfully

A Short Memory.

Uncle Jed was a trifle slack about quitting the bottom when the levee broke, and had to take to a tree. Morning came, and there was sixty feet of Mississippi flood water between him and shore. The preacher happened along on the high ground and saw Jed, but there wasn't any boat. Moreover, Jed's suspicion that there were alligators about was well founded.

The preacher besought Jed to swim, but in vain. Finally he called out: "Jed, have faith. Remember how Jonah was cared for in the whale and saved after three days."

Jed spoke earnestly. "Yas, suh, I remember. I ain't denyin' 'bout Jonah, 'cause I wa'n't nigh um. But dis year alligator, he ain't no whale, suh. Alligator, he eat a nigger an' go off an' sleep a week, suh, an' disremember all 'bout dat uig ger inside um!"

His Idea.

Those angelic-looking little boys, with golden curls, are usually just like other boys; a fact often overlooked by female relatives and other adoring ladies. One of this cherubic band of small boys came back from school the other day rather depressed because he had no nickname.

"I spoke to the teacher about it," he vouchsafed, his big eyes opened wide, a mournful look about his angelic mouth. "I told her some nicknames that I'd like."

"And what were the names?" inquired a rapturous maiden aunt. "Bunce Bill or The Slugger," replied the angelic one.

String to The old Job.

Bowling Green, Ky., June 4.—Dr. H. H. Cherry, for many years president of the Western Kentucky state normal school in this city, who resigned in the early winter to enter the race for the democratic nomination for governor of Kentucky, but who withdrew a few weeks ago was again unanimously elected president of the normal school at a meeting of the board of regents, which was held Wednesday. A 6 o'clock dinner was given the board of regents and Dr. and Mrs. Cherry by the faculty. The dinner was served by the young ladies of the department of domestic science.

Await Wilson Message.

El Paso, Texas, June 1.—Gen Obregon's Carranza army and the Villa forces faced each other to-day in Central Mexico virtually under a truce, pending receipt of President Wilson's note to Mexico chieftains, which is expected tomorrow.

George C. Carothers, special agent of the State Department to the Villa faction, arrived today at Chihuahua City, to await the telegraphic transmission of the president's message.

It was learned that Carothers together with several of Villa's cabinet members, would proceed south to meet Villa and present to him the American message. Villa has left the battle front below Leon, and returned north to Aguascalientes, there to await the delivery of the message from Washington.

The Canadians at Ypres.

The British left was held by the Canadians, who now had their real baptism of fire. Attacked in the front and rear, assailed by artillery, by gas, by machine gunfire, they displayed a steadiness, a gallantry, a determination unsurpassed in the annals of the British army,—earning them an enduring place in Imperial history. Forced to retreat, they gave ground with deliberation, retook the offensive, and pushed back their pursuers from time to time. Detachments left in small towns and unable to retreat sold their lives with splendid heroism. In this struggle 7,000 Canadians, nearly a quarter of the contingent, were lost.

This heroism saved the day. Presently reinforcements arrived, the German advance was halted, turned back. It has passed the Yser Canal; it had come further south and west than in the other battle. But the net profit, when the battle had ended, was the gain of two or three miles on a front of five. The whole British position in the salient about Ypres was beaten in or forced to contract to meet the new situation to the West. But the line was intact, and the road to the Channel was closed. The gain had been more than that of the British at Neuve Chappelle, the attack infinitely better prepared and delivered, but the ultimate result was little different.—From "Germany's New Offensive in May," by Frank H. Simonds, in the American Review of Reviews for June.

The Mogul Wagon Co. has recently added a complete line of spring delivery Wagons and are now shipping them west in car load lots. These Wagons are built in all sizes and styles of the best material.

The Mogul Wagon Co. is now building over fifty different style Wagons. There is a great demand for delivery Wagons and this Company is now prepared to meet every demand for Wagons. Forbes Mfg. Co. Incorporated carry a full line of samples on their floor.—Advertisement.

Must Stay in District.

Frankfort, Ky., June 4.—"The justice court for a magisterial district must be held within the limits of that district, and if the Justice of the Peace for that district would hold his court, he must do so within the district. A Justice of the Peace cannot by consent of litigants hold court for the trial of causes in a district other than his own," said the Court of Appeals this morning, in the case of Magistrate Charles C. Wheeler, of the Sixth district, Jefferson county, against Magistrate Ben Schulman, of the Second district, Louisville.

Wheeler has an office on Fifth street, in Schulman's district, where he has tried 2,500 cases annually during the last five years. Schulman secured an injunction against Wheeler in the Jefferson Circuit Court, and Wheeler appealed; but the Court of Appeals said he must try civil cases in his own district.

Found Humanity Frail.

In a town in New York a disagreeable man set a trap for his brethren and sisters. Twenty-five were tempted with dimes slipped into their change and then watched to see what they would do about it. Seven men and one woman pocketed the change uncounted and never knew of the halt. Four men and two women found and returned the coin. Eleven succumbed to greed and, unconscious of the watch upon them, pocketed the illicit gain. Even happier than those who demonstrated their rectitude are the eight whose indifference to lucre made them winners without blame. Unhappy are the detected pilferers indeed, but probably the sorest people in the town are the remaining 2,013 inhabitants who missed the chance to make either a record or ten cents.

Twenty-nine French aeroplanes between 4 and 5 o'clock Thursday morning bombarded the headquarters of the Imperial crown prince on the French front. They dropped 178 shells, many of which reached the mark, and several thousand darts. All the machines were subjected to a severe cannonade but all returned unscathed.

CALLOWAY COUNTY

Will Give Denny Smith A Large Majority.

(Cadiz Record.)

A prominent Democrat in Calloway county, in a letter to a friend in Trigg county recently, had the following to say in regard to the race for Commonwealth's Attorney:

"Your Trigg county candidate will get a big majority in Calloway. There were very few large criminal cases over here for a long time after Mr. Smith was elected, and he went about his business in such a quiet, unassuming way the people were a long time learning his real value and ability, but they have now come to know that he is one of the fairest and ablest prosecutors we have ever had, and he is perfectly conscientious in his work."

"For the last few weeks it looks like Mr. Smith has grown stronger all the time, but I really think the approach of the primary and the election talk has only caused men to speak their sentiments more freely. People pay more attention to the importance of this office than they used to, I believe, and understand the necessity of enforcing the law better. Our folks say he fills the place too well not to re-elect him. Most people say he will carry about every precinct in this county."

Lyon county is almost solid for Smith, according to the opinion of well-informed Democrats, and the general opinion here is that he will not lose more than fifty to seventy-five votes in Trigg county.—Advertisement.

The German Government has transmitted a communication to James W. Gerard, the American Ambassador at Berlin, explaining that the torpedoing off the American tank steamer Gulfight of the Scilly Islands on May 1 was a mistake. Germany disavows any intention of attacking harmless neutral ships, and in cases where she is at fault she offers to compensate.
